

The Adventure Continues

Thanks for following your curiosity all the way here!
We hope you enjoyed the journey.

These lands we now call the Americas have been lived in and stewarded by many peoples across vast continents for tens of thousands of years. Cities rose at Cahokia and Cuzco and Tenochtitlán while other parts of the world lived through their own risings and fallings. Calendars tracked the wheel of stars from Tikal to Chaco. Roads ran from the Andes to the Great Lakes.

You don't need to know a word to find it in the puzzle, but we invite you to do your own exploring after you put your pencils down.
Enjoy your journey of discovery.

Inside

Explore two puzzles from our Hidden History collection to discover how people have struggled toward peace in the Americas over thousands of years.

The clues in these puzzles carry centuries of stories about peoples, places, events, and ideas you may have been familiar with, known by other names, or discovered here for the first time.

If there were clues that surprised you or words that were unfamiliar, we invite you to follow your wonder further:

New doorways to discovery await you.
